The Couples College is an intimacy building skills course that teaches couples a framework to understand what is needed to make a relationship work.

When we partner with another, we bring together two different sets of values, beliefs and personalities. These differences, combined with poor communication, can lead to power struggles, conflict and even pain.

At The Couples College, we have created an easy, intimate, and fun learning experience based on proven research and techniques. Our goal is to teach you and/or your clients new skills to manage any situation, no matter how difficult. This skills course is either meant to be a standalone course or a supportive adjunct to current couples therapy.

Register at www.thecouplescollege.com/courses.

Clinicians taking this course will receive 20 CEs through GSCSW.
